Consent to disclosure of your tax return information

Federal law requires us to provide this consent form to you. Unless authorized by law, we cannot disclose your tax return information to Intuit Inc. for purposes other than the preparation and filing of your tax return without your consent. If you consent to the disclosure of your tax return information, Federal law may not protect your tax return information from further use or distribution.

You are not required to complete this form to engage our tax return preparation services. If we obtain your signature on this form by conditioning our tax return preparation services on your consent, your consent will not be valid. If you do not specify the duration of your consent, your consent is valid for one year from the date of signature.

You can choose to have us share your tax return information in order to enhance your Intuit account and build your profile, communicate with you, provide personalized offers, give you advice regarding your unique financial profile, provide you with live expert advisory services, and provide insights for the benefit of you or other customers. Information that may be shared with our parent company, Intuit Inc. and its subsidiaries includes personal and business information, filing status, refund or taxes due, income information, social security number, deductions and credits, other information related to your use of TurboTax, and financial institution connection information. You are consenting to allow this disclosure within three years of the date of your signature.

If you believe your tax return information has been disclosed or used improperly in a manner unauthorized by law or without your permission, you may contact the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration (TIGTA) by telephone at 1-800-366-4484, or by email at complaints@tigta.treas.gov.
